NSU shares top position in Bangladesh in THE rankings

North South University (NSU) has jointly ranked #1 in Bangladesh in the Times Higher Education (THE) World University Rankings 2027, according to a statement.

NSU shares the top position with American International University-Bangladesh (AIUB), Daffodil International University and Jahangirnagar University, with all four institutions placed in the 801-1000 band globally.

The ranking bands are used to account for the margin of error.

The 2027 THE World University Rankings were unveiled on September 30, 2026. This year's edition assessed 2,297 universities across 118 countries, making it one of the most extensive global assessments of higher education institutions.

A total of 25 universities from Bangladesh were included in this year's rankings. NSU's continued presence among the top-ranked universities reflects its efforts to strengthen academic quality, research, global engagement and graduate outcomes, the statement said.
