NORTH South University hosted its spring semester orientation programme on NSU campus in Dhaka on Saturday.

A total of 23 students were awarded merit-based 100 per cent scholarships for their outstanding results in the undergraduate (honours) admission test in 17 departments of four schools of the university, said a press release.

The semester-wise orientation programme, which serves as a significant event for NSU freshers, aimed to acquaint students with the university's culture and academic approach.

The chief guest of the event was Junaid Kamal Ahmad, a member of the board of trustees at NSU and vice president of the World Bank while the special guest was Yasmin Kamal, also a member of the NSU board of trustees.

The orientation speaker was Anisul Hoque, celebrated writer and managing editor of Prothom Alo. The session was chaired by professor Atiqul Islam, vice-chancellor of NSU.

NSU registrar Ahmed Tazmeen delivered the welcome speech while treasurer professor Abdur Rob Khan welcomed the new students.

Professor SK Tawfique M Haque, dean of the school of humanities and social sciences, professor Javed Bari, dean of the school of engineering and physical sciences, professor Helal Ahammad, dean of the school of business and economics, and professor Hasan Mahmud Reza, dean of the school of health and life sciences introduced their respective schools.
