NSU scientist wins Galileo Galilei Medal

Daily Sun Reports, Dhaka

Dr Mahdy Rahman Chowdhury of the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering of North South University (NSU) has been awarded the prestigious 2023 Galileo Galilei Medal by the International Commission for Optics (ICO).

Dr. Chowdhury became the first Bangladeshi scientist to receive this globally acclaimed award, placing him among the esteemed ranks of the ICO's Golden Book, says a press release. His exceptional achievement elevates Bangladesh's standing in the international scientific community and serves as a beacon of inspiration for aspiring Bangladeshi scientists.
