

NSU hosts orientation for anthropology students

North South University's (NSU) Department of Political Science and Sociology (PSS) organised the freshers' orientation for the newly launched Bachelor of Social Science (BSS) in Anthropology programme on Tuesday. The first cohort of students of the programme's Summer 2026 semester was welcomed at the Syndicate Hall of the university in presence of faculty members, university officials, students, and guardians, according to a press release.

A view of the freshers' orientation for the BSS in Anthropology programme on the NSU campus on Tuesday.