NSU hosts language-based competition

Staff Correspondent

THE divisional selection round of 'Bakeman's 3rd International Language League' for the Dhaka division took place with resounding success at the North South University campus on Friday.

This event witnessed a remarkable turnout of over 4,000 students from various educational institutions, solidifying its position as the largest language-based competition in the country, said a press release.

The primary objective of 'Bakeman's 3rd International Language League' is to enhance and nurture language competency among students nationwide.

Prior to the Dhaka division, the competition had already traversed through Rangpur and Mymensingh, raising language skills across different regions of the country. Along with Dhaka, Chattogram division also concluded its divisional round, underlining the league's nationwide reach.

The competition was thoughtfully structured into seven segments, each catering to different age groups, showcasing inclusivity and promoting diverse participation.
